Paul Flaherty – Company Founder

Paul is an ex-military man who spent 10 years in the British Special Air Service. He spent many years as an Instructor in different parts of the world, where he taught leadership, survival and extreme outdoor adventure skills in many types of terrain and climatic conditions. He is also a qualified SAS medic.

Paul has a good working knowledge of local geography, natural history and culture.
Outdoor Instructors

All North Star instructors are suitably qualified experts in their particular fields.
